

Thought on Confession of Pain

Contributed by Len Bai
Friday, 24 August 2007
Last Updated Friday, 24 August 2007

I haven't looked after my website for quite a long time since Melissa has gone to Hong Kong. It's been nearly three weeks and I haven't got used to such kind of single life which I was actually dreaming for when we two were together. There is always dilemma in life. When you don't have something, you are eager to have it. But once you have got it, it then becomes nothing to you. This thing to me, was 'freedom', and it can be anything to others I think.

In the film 'Confession of Pain', the private detective acted by Jin Chengwu said 'you can never imagine the pain when the person who was with you everyday has suddenly gone, forever'. Now, I somewhat touched such sort of feeling. But luckily, we are just away from each other for a not very long period. I look forward to the day when we meet up again. And I wish we could be together, forever.